SUBURBAN PLEASURES

Last year saw the release of the opulent photo book HOUSEHOLD IDOLS, which was the first release of photographer Mark Henderson and instantly became a huge success. People were amazed by the perfectly shaped men posing in artfully arranged country house settings—and so it was quite clear that there was a large demand for a second book. But oops ... obviously Henderson is a little bored of living in the country: For his new project SUBURBAN PLEASURES he chose a more urban setting. The Chippendale furniture was banned from the set. A stylish modern spirit and a clear picture language are now the focus of Henderson's work. What remains is his penchant for alienating single picture elements—as well as these incredibly well built models. SUBURBAN PLEASURES is obviously not only about first-class photography but also about the male body as a work of art. Catchy colorings and divine men compete for the viewer's attention. In the end the winner is always the complete work, the sexy and brilliant style of Henderson, who goes his own new way in the art of picturing the male nude.

Mark Henderson lives and works in Los Angeles. As a studied art historian he brilliantly knows how to insert clear relations to the different epochs of the art history in his photographs. He runs an independent photo studio which is specialized in erotic male photography.
